DUBLIN — John Daugherty is a handicapped student at Dublin High School who plans to begin taking driver training next week in a car specially equipped with hand controls.

This new program for handicapped students is being offered by the Fremont school system. It is designed to allow students to advance at their own rate. It began last month.

Until then, the nearest schools to offer such instruction were located in San Jose and Oakland.

Daugherty is the first student from a neighboring area to be accepted in the new Fremont program. He is a sophomore.

"I'm very lucky to get in this program," Daugherty said. "I'm glad to be taking the training and feel it will help me conquer my fears about driving. I really want to become a good driver."

Guy Saunders will be transporting Daugherty to and from Fremont. Saunders is head of the driver training department at Dublin High School.

Daugherty said he planned to go to the Department of Motor Vehicles yesterday and get his learners permit.

He had already taken the written test, submitted a medical release and records from his optometrist.

"I will be taking the class every school day but Friday," said Daugherty. "At least that is what I understand."

He said he hopes someday to be able to drive a standard, automatic powered car without hand controls.

Daugherty said he had no immediate plans to buy a specially equipped car for himself. But if he found the right job and could earn the money, he might consider such a plan.

Ron Cass, head of Fremont's driver training department, and Vance Hamilton, the instructor, say they are learning along with the handicapped students.

Richard Brunelli, a Fremont auto dealer, donated the specially equipped car to the Fremont School District.

Bern likes birthday 'surprises'

PLEASANTON — Bern Mahalak got the surprise of his life when his wife, Mary, opened the family room curtains on the usual view of the backyard of 2283 Sea Eagle Court Tuesday night.

There was the entire Amador High School Band, fully decked out and ready to play "Happy Birthday" to Bern. And next to the band, a crew from the local cable television program, ready to record his every move on the stepladder which served as an improvised podium for America's newest amateur bandleader.

The big surprise was planned by Mary, who tries to outdo her creative surprises each year or two.

Two years ago she interviewed 11 women before picking just the right belly dancer to entertain the guests at Bern's birthday party. Two years from now she plans to have Bern and herself away somewhere in the Caribbean for two weeks where the couple would work as cruise stewards. Sure, it's work, but the location is nice, said Mary.

Mary got the idea of hiring the Amador band after she read that the band is trying to raise funds. The band doesn't plan to hire out to birthday parties on a regular basis, but just this once thought it might be a real kick. The band members seemed to get a thrill out of the local TV lights and camera, too, and they can be seen at 8 p.m. today on cable TV channel 10 in Pleasanton and Dublin.

The 40 guests at the sitdown dinner in the Mahalak home were in the secret and fortunately Bern didn't blunder outdoors while the band members were debarking from buses a block away and sneaking into the backyard.

"This is just fantastic," Mahalak told The Times. "I've never had anything like this happen to me before. It was a total surprise."

Drug traffic at Cal High disavowed

SAN RAMON — The question of drug use by California High students and recent articles by a Catholic Diocese newspaper, alleging a "drug culture," were focused on by some 35 parents and administrators last night.

The meeting was called by Sue Cramer, president of the California High Parents Club.

A majority of those present felt the use of drugs and alcohol by Cal High students was vastly overplayed.

Some parents and one student present, however, felt students could "get away" with drug use and drinking.

Student body president Willie Gallo said most Cal High students felt the articles in the Catholic Voice were untrue, "we found out that what the 15 students interviewed were doing was giving him (the reporter) a line." We felt he interviewed members of one clique. They were trying to build themselves up.

He said students had drafted a letter into the articles that will be read at Monday night's school board meeting.

A Contra Costa County Sheriff's representative said later, prior to a presentation on drugs, that it was his understanding that drug use had dropped in the San Ramon area.

'Keep airport plan out of GP'

LIVERMORE — Going through the wringer of extensive debate, the airport master plan was accepted Tuesday by the planning commission, which will ask city council not to make the document part of the General Plan.

Looking at the number of variables affecting various projections in the plan, commissioners felt the document needed more flexibility than could be obtained as a general plan element.

Most of the criticism came from Planning Commissioner Bill Zagotta, a former member of the airport advisory committee and the only commissioner to vote against acceptance of the master plan.

He wanted the city's finance director to take a close look at the financial forecasts for the airport and provide more detailed projections, asked for more local noise studies, felt questions posed by him about siting problems were not adequately answered, and argued with other maps and use projections.

The projections in the master plan are as realistic as can be projected, said Public Works Director Dan Lee.

Zagotta complained the plan overestimates income and underestimates outflow, noting a predicted four per cent increase in air traffic included "touch and go" traffic which brings no revenues to Livermore.

The air traffic figures will be used to determine when a second runway is needed.

Heritage panel adopts guild's resources list

LIVERMORE — When the newly formed Heritage Preservation Commission met for the first time Tuesday, it adopted as its own a resources list prepared by the Heritage Guild.

The list includes 600 sites within 160 blocks of the core city area that are considered to have historical significance and are worth preserving.

The commission includes the five member Design Review Committee and ex-officio members from the Heritage Guild and the Beautification Committee.

Agreeing to continually update the list, commissioners decided to seek more data on locations and buildings. Included in their list of details sought are when the structures were built, who designed them, the styles represented, which are original and which are remodeled, who lived there and what the historical or cultural values are.

Further input for their task will come from contact with other cities that have similar programs, such as Santa Cruz and Santa Clara. The commission also plans to ask state officials for a copy of the guidelines for preparing a historical preservation element.

One of the goals for the commission will be preparation of a cultural heritage element for the city's General Plan.

The new commission, acting on a request from the planning commission, agreed to initiate a study that could result in naming the residential area of Trevarno Road as a historical landmark.

They also reviewed a request from the federal Government Services Administration which is compiling a list of historical buildings in all American cities that are suitable for federal office space, if the federal government ever has need to place an office locally.

Anita Thorsen and Randy Schlientz, chairwoman and vice chairman of the Design Review Committee, were named to the same positions on the new commission.

Gary Drummond will represent the Heritage Guild. Gary Linford will represent the Beautification Committee.

Other Design Review members on the new commission include Roberta Hadley, Barbara Baird and Gloria Taylor. City Building Inspector Herb Street will serve as the commission's secretary.

The commission members will meet the first Tuesday of each month.

until warm weather comes to the East and eases the demand for natural gas there.

If

conservation measures are taken in California in the next 30 days, 5 billion gallons of natural gas can be shipped to the East from Texas instead of coming here, said Batinovich.

"You use good judgment, that's all we are interested in," said Batinovich. "You can solve it all by yourselves. You can cut pool temperatures from 80 to 76 degrees and close some, but not all, of the pools."

Some people think the gas shortage is contrived in order to get Congress to deregulate gas prices across state lines, an action which already has occurred through emergency legislation.

Batinovich thinks such talk is cynical. There may be a few small producers who are holding back to magnify a crisis and put pressure for deregulation, but they are a very small part of the supply, he said.

"We've had a natural gas shortage for five years," said Batinovich.

"It just has not shown up so dramatically until this winter because it is so cold now. Even before the cold weather came, we had been cut off 30 per cent from our Texas supply."

California gets 35 per cent of its gas from Texas, a lower figure than last winter. Another 40 per cent comes from Canada and 25 per cent from California wells.

There is only 11 years supply of natural gas remaining, but deregulation of prices should give companies the stimulus to find new sources for the next few hundred years, said Batinovich.

PUC conservation plan Energy cuts spurred

PG&E won't come out next week and turn off the gas to local public swimming pools, but local officials had better come up with a gas conservation plan, Public Utilities Commissioner Robert Batinovich said yesterday.

Valley Community Services District shut off the gas to its pool late Tuesday as soon as the PUC's order became known. Livermore Area Recreation and Park District and Pleasanton Department of Recreation and Human Resources has done nothing yet, pending written word from the PUC.

Batinovich said that the PUC won't impose a police state on enforcing its order; it will be up to local recreation leaders to decide for themselves just how to effect big savings in natural gas consumption at their pools.

The order will remain in effect until warm weather comes to the East and eases the demand for natural gas there.

If conservation measures are taken in California in the next 30 days, 5 billion gallons of natural gas can be shipped to the East from Texas instead of coming here, said Batinovich.

"You use good judgment, that's all we are interested in," said Batinovich. "You can solve it all by yourselves. You can cut pool temperatures from 80 to 76 degrees and close some, but not all, of the pools."

Swimming pool closure prompts critical comment

Nationally top-rated swimmers in the Norcal Aquatics Club in Dublin are being unfairly penalized because Valley Community Services District closed its swimming pool, Dublin resident Diane Schinnerer has charged.

VCSD closed the pool late Tuesday after hearing that a Public Utilities Commission edict has asked that all public and private natural gas heating be shut off.

That may be noble, said Schinnerer, but Pleasanton and Livermore haven't done that, and their swimmers will get an unfair edge in practicing for the AAU national competition in Canton, Ohio, April 6-9. Pleasanton and Livermore are waiting for something in writing so they can better understand just what the PUC wants in the way of gas conservation. (Note: see accompanying story.)

If the Valley wants to conserve swimming pool heating gas, it ought to designate one pool where all club swimmers can work out, said Schinnerer. As it is now, Norcal, with its 150 swimmers, can't work out at any of the other pools.

"One pool ought to be set aside for the region with one or two lanes reserved for the top swimmers in each club," said Schinnerer. "That way the top swimmers will be able to train on an equal basis for the nationals."

Schinnerer is also bothered that California is supposed to be conserving gas for back East, but a call to the Canton, Ohio, pool which will host the AAU meet shows that pool is being heated. In fact, the pool manager there says Canton has plenty of natural gas, said Schinnerer.

VCSD Director Lila Euler suggested Tuesday night that VCSD acquire wet suits for swimmers so that the swim pool does not have to be heated. It was the third consecutive year she made the suggestion.

"You rent bowling balls when you go bowling and roller skates when you go roller skating, why not wet suits when you go swimming," said Euler.

She feels people's habits will change in the next five or 10 years and what seems like a ridiculous suggestion now will be all right. "People will look back and ask, 'Why did they heat the water?' you don't heat the outdoors; you wear a coat."

Carter's fireside chat

A sweater-clad President Carter, sitting beside a log fire, told the American people Wednesday night that sacrifices, thrift and cooperation are needed to weather a permanent energy shortage that government cannot cope with "if you are not willing to help."

In his first "fireside chat" to the nation on a cold night in the capital, Carter called for the rekindling of a national spirit of unity to deal with energy problems that make America increasingly dependent on foreign sources of oil and natural gas.

Water Woes 'terrifying'

The state's water outlook is "terrifying," and rationing could become commonplace throughout California this year, a federal water official said Wednesday.

"Soil moisture is the lowest of record, reservoirs are the lowest of record, and the snowpack is the lowest since surveys began in 1930," said Robert Burnash, chief of the National Weather Service's River Forecast Center.

Human service talks

A draft of a methodology for assessing the community's social needs in Pleasanton will be presented by Human Services Coordinator Diane McKenna when the Human Services Commission meets at 8 p.m. today in the City Council Chambers.

Accident at Granada

There were no injuries yesterday in this car accident in front of Granada High School, but Livermore police planned to charge Perry Carl Coffman, 18, of Hayward, with reckless driving. Witnesses told police Coffman allegedly was travelling at speeds in excess of 55 miles per hour on Wall Street when he collided with a car driven by Granada student Rodney McKay Benclien, 17, of 375 Hummingbird, Livermore.

Vandalism damage at Christensen School

LIVERMORE — Vandals caused an estimated $500 damage at Christensen School on Haggins Oaks Drive Monday by breaking water and electrical piping, police report.

A representative of the Armand Construction Co. said six copper water pipes and five electrical conduits had been broken or twisted. All damaged articles, including a broken brace on a metal scaffold, will have to be replaced.

Police said vandalism damage was confined to the multi-purpose room, which is still under construction. There are no suspects.

Local persons arrested on drug charges

PLEASANTON — A 27-year-old Pleasanton man and his 17-year-old companion were arrested in Alameda last Friday on suspicion of possessing and driving under the influence of drugs.

Michael William Andrews, 27, of 4228 Wells St., was booked on suspicion of driving under the influence of drugs and possessing a controlled substance for sale.

An East Bay Regional Parks District ranger stopped a pick-up truck allegedly driving erratically on Otis Drive near South Shore about 12:15 a.m. Jan. 28. The suspect reportedly stumbled from his car and could not answer simple questions posed to him, the ranger reported.

A plastic bag containing a white-yellow powder substance was recovered from the suspect at the scene. It is being tested for content.

The 17-year-old girl was booked at juvenile hall on suspicion of being drunk in public.

RV center burglarized of radio, seats

LIVERMORE — Burglars broke into a locked vehicle at the Livermore RV Center, 888 Portola Ave. Monday and took items valued at $335, police report.

Police said burglars pried a wing window to gain entry. An am-fm/8-track radio and two green velvet swivel seats were taken. Interior and door lights were smashed.

There are no suspects.

More vandalism at Recreation Center building

PLEASANTON — Vandals pried a door to the Recreation Center building on Black Avenue Sunday, poured flour and chocolate powder on the floor, and took a $30 microphone, police report.

Police had no suspects in the latest of several attacks on the center.

VCSD looking at transit legislation

DUBLIN — The Valley Community Services District (VCSD) will be investigating the possibility of obtaining special legislation that would enable them to provide a local transportation system within their service district.

The feasibility of the proposal was discussed by VCSD directors Tuesday night.

Ann Jolley, board director, had submitted a written recommendation on the subject to other VCSD directors. It was dated Jan. 26, 1977.

"I would recommend at this time that VCSD take the initiative by seeking the help of Paul Kilkenny, Jack Bloom and Maurice Shiu to explore the possibility of this being the lead agency in obtaining a transportation system, and also that the District take up a similar course with Alameda County."

Kileny and Shiu are officials in the Contra Costa Public Works Department. Bloom is transportation planner with Metropolitan Transportation Commission. The trio said they would be willing to check with Sacramento to see whether VCSD would be eligible to handle necessary funding.

VCSD legal counsel, Peggy L. McElligott, advised against seeking such enabling legislation. She said VCSD might want to back out of the proceedings at a later date but feel compelled to go on due to public pressure.

Recycling nixes bags

SR schools
$17.3 million
vote May 31

DANVILLE — Tuesday, May 31 has been established as the date for the $17.3 million lease purchase ballot the San Ramon Unified School District believes is absolutely necessary to meet facilities requirements through 1981-82.

Trustees unanimously approved a facilities' need program at a special meeting Monday night. Included is a priority listing of building needs.

Also approved Monday was a 58.6-cent tax rate, reflecting the lease purchase portion of the facilities plan. A simple majority vote would be required to implement the facilities plan.

However, the number one priority as originally listed by a citizens committee and agreed upon by trustees is a portable start-up school in the Montevideo area.

Monies for the K-5 portable school would come from sale of two district properties, Sycamore and Tibros school sites.

Portables capable of housing 250 students would be placed on the Montevideo site.

Included is the timing for the start of planning, construction, bond dates, funded interest dates, and proposed dates of occupancy.

Airport plan OK

Airport Committee member John Kerekes told the commission Livermore has the same obligation to let outside air traffic touch down on its runway as it has in letting outside auto traffic use its streets.

"If in four years we don't meet the four per cent rate, the land (to be acquired adjacent to the airport on three sides for a clear zone) can be used for other purposes until a second runway is needed," he said.

Lee said the federal government recently increased its share of land acquisition from 80 to 90 per cent.

Relying to Zagotta's doubts about hangar siting on the south side of the airport, security problems and access, Kerekes said at least 50 airplane owners are waiting for hangars and would be willing to taxi the extra distance for fueling and startup to have protection from the elements.

He said rumors that Oakland Airport is closing a runway to light aircraft could be a "gold mine" to the Livermore airport, which he said is just behind Concord and Hayward airports in desirability.

During a technical discussion on noise levels and noise map contour lines, Zagotta expressed distrust of a CALTRANS study by "someone who has visited Livermore only a dozen times."

"I would have less objection if our staff studied it," he said.

Commissioner Ray Brice reminded him the Livermore standards were higher than federal standards.

Commissioner Candy Simonen said the contour lines restrict residential development from encroaching on the airport and should also be used to

Hot hay hassle

County fire trucks rolled to a field behind Livermore's Jackson Avenue School Tuesday, when a large stack of hay caught fire. More than 100 bales were engulfed in flames and as firemen doused the fire with water, dozens of youngsters at the nearby school clung to a fence to watch the excitement. Ironically, lying at the foot of the stack were numerous irrigation pipes and sprinkler heads — not hooked up, and unavailable for use in dousing the flames. Cause of the fire was undetermined.

CCC hearing called on Dow plant's death

The Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors voted Tuesday to hold a public conference on the implications of Dow Chemical Co.'s recent decision not to build its petrochemical plant in Solano County.

"We've been doing a lot of talking about the impact of why, and where we go from here," said Supervisor Eric Hassettine, Danville, who made the suggestion for the conference and volunteered to coordinate it.

"We've got to meet it in a positive way."

"Economic and environmental concerns have been on a collision course here for years," said Board Chairman Warren Boggess, Concord. "An open conference is an excellent idea."

Both Boggess and Supervisor Robert Schroder stressed that the conference be balanced with representation from industrial and environmental sides and from concerned regulatory agencies.

A date for the conference will be set in the near future.

SRV school case Teacher wins $25,000

Lesher News Bureau

MARTINEZ — San Ramon teacher Boyer August was awarded $25,000 Tuesday by a Superior Court jury which found that he was demoted from a dean of boys' position because he publicly criticized his superiors.

August sued San Ramon Valley Unified School District superintendent Allen Petersdorf, former San Ramon High principal James Cousins and school board members Edward Merrill, Joseph DeHope, Robert Arrigoni, Virginia Jouris and Harold Zuckerman.

The suit contended that August's constitutional rights to free speech were violated when he was demoted from dean of boys at San Ramon High to teacher.

Michael McCabe, August's lawyer, declared, "This is a vindication of Mr. August's conduct and, most importantly, it clears his name."

McCabe had asked the jury to award

August $50,000 damages, asserting that he had lost $5,000 a year since the demotion and would continue to lose future earnings.

August was demoted in 1975 after several incidents in which he had publicly criticized the district. He fought the demotion before the school board but lost.

During the trial, school district lawyer Jon Hurak contended that August didn't have the trust of his superiors and that he began having problems with Cousins, now a teacher, before the freedom of speech issue arose.

McCabe said that he will appeal an earlier court denial of a request by August to get his job as dean of boys back.

Judge Raymond J. Sherwin, visiting from Solano County, had denied that motion on the grounds that McCabe hadn't clearly raised the free speech issue.

The jury has now done that, McCabe said.

Dublin teachers feel their needs overlooked

DUBLIN — Dublin School teachers are concerned their interests are being shoved aside to accommodate special programs and a request to rent 12 classrooms by Valley Christian Center.

In a lengthy meeting of Dublin and Nielsen teachers and Murray School District administrators Tuesday, teachers learned that Valley Christian Center would like to rent 12 classrooms to accommodate 300 K-8 students next year.

Discussion ranged from making allowances for special programs such as for aphasic children, Mentally Gifted Minors (MGM), physical education - stage, and Title I to supervision of play areas and use of multi-purpose room facilities.

One teacher seemed to sum up the feelings of many present when she stated, "We feel like you're not going to give us any consideration — like you're taking everybody else's needs first."

Acting Superintendent Heinz Gowing earlier had pleaded with teachers to provide input, to tell the administration what their needs are.

Wally Moreskine, acting assistant superintendent and shaping a possible Murray — Valley Christian Center school use plan, said two rooms would be needed at Dublin for the aphasic program, and one for MGM.

"We're looking at an equitable loading of a school," Moreskine contended. "We could probably forestall the closing of a school. As it is now, we could almost combine Dublin and Nielsen."

General tenor of discussion indicated that Nielsen could not handle the request for 12 rooms from the Valley Christian Center.

However, accommodating various programs, the most that might be available at Dublin would be 10. Valley Christian Center would also require use of the multi-purpose room one hour each week.

They would utilize their own trailers for offices.

Under a very tentative plan mentioned Tuesday, VCC students could occupy a wing at the upper end of the Dublin School property.

Further discussion is pending prior to the proposal being submitted to the board.

New charcoal pit is really cooking

Resident sheriff and manager Norm Strehle tells us the new charcoal pit at Cactus Jack's is truly raking everything over the coals, the beef dinners and sandwiches, that is.

The steaks and dinners have a totally new flavor these days at the popular restaurant, located at 3571 First St. in Livermore. It's like enjoying an outdoor barbecue in the comfort indoors at Cactus Jack's.

The restaurant is open seven days a week from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., featuring breakfast, lunch and dinner. Besides the excellent beef dishes, Cactus Jack's also has outstanding fish entrees as well as the Spaghetti Plate.

The atmosphere is always casual and manager Norm knows most of his customers by name. He guarantees service and quality and backs it up.

Classes starting

Entertainment world notes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank Sinatra will star in his first television movie, a three-hour adaptation of Philip Rosenberg's novel "Contract on Cherry Street."

Making his first dramatic TV appearance in more than 10 years, he will play a big-city police detective who goes undercover to break up a crime syndicate.

The movie will be filmed this fall in New York City for NBC by Columbia Pictures Television. Sinatra took an option on the novel in 1975 and brought the project to the studio.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Talia Shire will star with Henry Winkler in the movie "Heroes," which takes place on a crosscountry trip.

The movie will be a reunion for Miss Shire, most recently seen in "Rocky," and Winkler, who is Fonzie on television's "Happy Days." They were classmates at the Yale School of Drama.

Production will begin in late February, after Miss Shire finishes the television movie "Kill Me If You Can." She plays a young woman who backs out of a wedding and meets a colorful Vietnam veteran on the trip.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dick Van Dyke will join "The Carol Burnett Show" next season as a star, said executive producer Joe Hamilton.

"Joe and I never dreamed there would even be a remote chance of Dick joining our show," Miss Burnett said, "but when he said 'yes,' we jumped with delight."

Dick Van Dyke said, "I feel like a man going back and marrying his childhood sweetheart." He said he and Miss Burnett had often said they should do a series together. They will star this spring on the stage here in "Same Time, Next Year."

Harvey Korman, who had been with the Burnett show for 10 years, will leave at the end of the current season.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nominations for the Academy Awards are in the mail and the results will be revealed Thursday, Feb. 10.

The nominations will close Feb. 4 for the acting, directing, writing, best picture, art direction, cinematography, costume design, film editing, music and sound awards.

The Oscar presentations will be made Monday, March 28, and will be telecast by ABC.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An animated motion picture will be made from the classic "Lord of the Rings" by J.R.R. Tolkien, the first from the late author's works.

Ralph Bakshi will direct the movie using international artists and will introduce new animation techniques, said producer Saul Zaentz, who was coproducer of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Christopher Plummer will join the cast of "The Disappearance," which is now being filmed in Montreal, Canada.

Others in the film include Donald Sutherland, David Hemings, David Warner, John Hurt and Barbara Parkins.

Plummer plays the head of a mysterious agency and is somehow connected with the disappearance of Sutherland's wife, played by Francine Racette.

Locals on TV tonight

The entire uniformed Amador High School band performing at the surprise birthday party for Bern Mahalak of Pleasanton will be featured on The Cable Connection, at 8 p.m. today on cable television Channel 10 in Dublin and Pleasanton.

Also featured will be Ruth Gasten of Livermore speaking on family communications at a symposium sponsored by the American Association of University Women, a sixth grade class from Pleasanton School doing role-playing in a decision-making class, and part of a rehearsal of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" by summer '76 students at Amador High School.

She's a public health nurse

A spoonful of love is the best medicine

Jalong Savoy, 5, teaches Barbara some Korean words from a favorite book. Jalong's left side is much weaker than her right, and the nurse keeps a watchful eye open to see how much the little girl favors her right leg when she hops off Barbara's lap and how tightly she can hold the book. As soon as she has an idea of what the problem might be, the public health nurse will refer Jalong's parents to the proper physical therapy resources.

lifestyle

An important part of Barbara's job is providing support to mothers with home visits. When Tina, 3, began having violent temper tantrums her 23-year-old mother needed both advice and reassurance — especially when brother Jimmy began copying his sister. With Barbara's help, the family was referred to a good doctor who diagnosed Tina's problem as epilepsy. Tina's mother now attends a weekly mother's support group at the public health headquarters in Pleasanton.

"Barbara! Barbara!" Many hugs and smiles later, public health nurse Barbara Boyd is finally seated — usually with a child on her lap.

Somewhat in the whirlwind of activity that surrounds her, she is able to do what she came for — checking immunization records, advising on medication, counseling. For many, a visit from the nurse is the highlight in a long, lonely stretch of days.

A registered nurse with a bachelor's degree and specialized training, Barbara works for the Alameda County Health Care Services Agency in Pleasanton and may see up to 100 families a month. Nurse, teacher, counselor and friend, Barbara attempts to assist families and individuals resolve whatever difficulties may prevent their pursuit of a healthy life — at no cost to them.

A typical morning will find Barbara organizing her afternoon home visits, catching up on enormous amounts of paper work and often leading such sessions as the mother's support group. Working with the other public health nurses at the Pleasanton headquarters, Barbara is currently the acting supervisor.

"We each plan our own day," says Barbara, whose visits are usually limited to Livermore. A cheerful blonde who loves her job, Barbara nevertheless admits to being more emotionally exhausted at the end of a day than physically worn out.

Because she has had special training on child abuse, Barbara's case load that includes many families have been reported to the police, never who often refer them to a public health nurse. "I force myself on any family," declares Barbara. "I am a guest in that person's home and act like one."

An afternoon visit may be as much fun for the nurse as it is for patients, especially when they are as lovable as Jalong and Shlon Savoy, two rosy-cheeked Korean orphans recently adopted by a Pleasanton couple. After spending hundreds of dollars arranging for their adoptions, the Savoys were advised to take advantage of the free medical help provided by the county. Both girls had various physical handicaps, and the family's social worker suggested a public health nurse might be able to arrange for appropriate medical aid.

Jalong and Shlon were raised in Christian orphanages, and are "very well disciplined," according to their new mother. "But they can't seem to get enough loving," she laughs, as they vie for attention with soft pats and hugs.

Barbara helped arrange for surgery that made Shlon's cleft palate a thing of the past, and she is now assessing Jalong's weakness in her left side. Although the nurse often encounters families with multiple problems, ranging from financial and mental to physical, Barbara happily reports that the two little girls unusually stable live in an family — in fact, the Savoys plan on adding another boy soon to their brood of five kids!

For those families with multiple problems, Barbara admits to discouragement at times, but adds, "You do what the family does — take one problem at a time." By helping the family decide what problem has priority, Barbara may be teaching the mother how to cut down on food costs by showing her how to make baby food or arranging for treatment for a handicapped child. "It's not like a hospital when patients get well and go home," she points out. "I've had some families for four years."

Because doctors don't make house calls, the public health nurse is often called by pediatricians and general practitioners alike to help them out in the home. "We often visit new mothers within a week of her return from the hospital," says Barbara, who confesses that her advice on child care has radically changed since her own son was born 16 months ago. "I know now not to tell mothers to rest when the babies are finally asleep — that's the time to get things done!"

While many referrals from doctors may have focused on a certain problem, Barbara states, "We may not see problems for a month, but sometimes we find more than one problem. Since our time is our own, though, we can visit a family twice a day for a week if we feel it's necessary."

Caring — that's what makes public health nursing work.

Barbara first began teaching the Ripoya children good dental hygiene when they moved to America three years ago from the Philippines. Today Virginia, Edith and Noel are teeth-brushing experts!

County services

every Thursday from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. ($1) and T.B. skin tests are made every Monday from 1 to 4:30 p.m. ($1). Appointments can be made for the health chest clinics and pregnancy testing.

At the Community Clinic, 4361 Railroad Ave. in Pleasanton, V.D. clinics are conducted every Tuesday from 6:30 to 8 p.m., along with premarital blood tests ($1). Appointments may be made for the family planning and well baby clinics. For more information call 462-5775.

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently my rectal specialist sent me to have a barium enema. He discovered an enlarged spleen. When I asked him what would have to be done he said I would have to see my family doctor. I did and he said to forget it. Occasionally I have a left sideache. Could the enlarged spleen be the cause? Please give me some information on it as I never heard of it before.

DEAR READER — In many ways the spleen is a large lymph gland located just where the colon makes a right angle turn on the left side. It is just under the ribs on the left side.

It gets enlarged in response to innumerable disorders and sometimes for no apparent reason at all. It enlarges so often in so many diseases that I recall in medical school the students had a rule, if the professor asked how often the spleen was enlarged in a given disorder the answer was always 15 per cent of the time.

The spleen can be enlarged in response to any of the infectious diseases and it may also be enlarged in less common serious illnesses such as some leukemias. I would think that your spleen must not be very large if your family doctor is not concerned about it and that its enlargement is of no real medical importance in your case.

The spleen destroys old red blood cells and when it becomes overactive it can destroy too many red and white blood cells, causing an anemia. To give you more information on the anemia group I am sending you The Health Letter, number 4-3, Understanding Anemias. Others who want this information can send 50 cents for it with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I just had my right Fallopian tube removed due to a tubal pregnancy. I am wondering why this happened? My husband and I want to start a family and this happened the first time out. What is the outlook for my being able to have a normal pregnancy? What are the chances of this happening a second time? Will I still have a period every month or only every other month and will I still have the potential for getting pregnant each month?

Yes, you will menstruate as before. Menstruation is a result of the cyclical increase and decrease in hormones formed by the ovaries. To clarify the point, a woman who has had both tubes tied for sterilization procedures continues to have normal menstrual periods as long as her ovaries are working.

I do not know what your doctor had to do to manage your ectopic pregnancy. Even if he had to take out one ovary the other one would be adequate, if it is normal, to produce the necessary amounts of female hormones and would release an ovum for pregnancy each time it is stimulated. So, you can't assume that you would only have half as many ova released — one every other month.

Many people in Scotland claim that a huge serpent lurks in the murky depths of a big lake called Loch Ness.

This monster, known as the Loch Ness Monster, has been described as a creature about 30 feet long with a long neck ending in a tiny head.

Reports of a sea monster trapped in the lake go back hundreds of years. But until quite recently, very few people believed that such a monster existed.

Since the 1930s, the Loch Ness Monster has been seen and described by several thousand people. Although scientists who have gone there have not yet located it, many people are convinced that a large creature of some kind does live in Loch Ness.

But what sort of creature is it? Is it a real sea serpent? Perhaps the monster is simply a family of otters swimming about.

Until we have more facts, the Loch Ness Monster remains one of the world's most famous unsolved mysteries.

A spicy award

A pair of linemen copped the soon-to-be-prestigious most valuable player awards given out by El Vacuero Mexican restaurant for football at the two Livermore high schools. Wade Andrade (left) got the nod for the Cowboys while Granada linebacker Larry Burke, (middle), for whom award-accepting is becoming a familiar task, earned the Mats trophy.

Free throws win it for Granada cagers

Foothill High School's scrambling basketball team couldn't quite see past the number four.

In the fourth quarter, the Falcons came to within four points on four different occasions, but couldn't break the ice as Granada held on for a 71-61 win in East Bay Athletic League basketball action last night in Livermore.

The Matadors shot 90 percent from the free throw line, meshing 27 of 30 attempts, to overcome the frantic Foothill five.

The Falcons had 26 baskets to Granada's 23 but went to the line only 13 times, hitting on just nine attempts.

Steve Sperber combined a deadly outside eye with an inside maneuverability to lead all scorers with 30 points, his best night of the season.

But, Granada's Dan Lambert was almost equal to that total, driving the baseline with authority while scoring 25 points, for his personal season best.

The Mats, led 43-30 midway through the third quarter, but fell prey to a Foothill press as the Falcons ran off a 10-0 spurt to pull up at 43-40 with 2:48 to go in the third quarter.

After Lambert drove for another Matador basket, Foothill chipped back and exchanged baskets with the Mats, making the score 47-40 with 1:28 to go.

Lambert, Jeff Evert and Joey Wujek then fast broke for three quick baskets to put the Mats up 53-44 entering the final stanza.

Then came the Falcons inability to get closer than four points, the final occasion being with 2:11 to play at 61-57 after a pair of Sperber free throws.

Wujek and Lambert followed with pairs of free throws for Granada while Steve Robison's drive with a minute to go sealed the Falcons' fate.

The Falcons battled the offensive boards bravely to stay on the heels of the Mats in the early going. They grabbed seven offensive rebounds in the first half to come away with more than one shot per possition on many occasions.

The Mats took a 15-14 first quarter lead, helped greatly by the free throws again. Stocky forward Lambert scored six in the opening quarter to finish the first half with 13 points as the Mats took into the lockerroom a 34-28 halftime edge.

After the hosts whipped out to a 10-4 lead, Foothill received surprisingly accurate outside shooting by the 6-4 Sperber to pull back to within one point by the quarter's end.

The Falcons shot 60 percent in the first half, but were too eager in fouling the Mats 11 times. The fouls were mostly two shot fouls, and the Mats canned 18 of 20 free throws to give them the edge.

Lambert kept the Mats in front by grabbing three offensive rebounds in the first half, the majority of them resulting in a foul by Foothill or an easy lay-in. Although out-fielded, 13-8, Granada's 90 percent free throw shooting told the story.

Santa Clara, currently 11-8, has continued to improve each week. Powered by the rookie tandem of forward Kurt Rambis and guard Londale Theus, the Broncos battled USF in both their games only to fall to late minute Don ral-

Rambis is among the nation's top rebounders, averaging over 11 caroms per game while Theus ranks high in field goal percentage with a 61.6 per cent accuracy from the floor. In the backcourt with Theus is playmaker Eddie Joe Chavez and Corky Nelson, a 6-10 sophomore handles the pit.

Nick Pappageorge threw in 20 points in the St. Mary's victory over San Diego and tied Maurice Harper's single-game assist mark at 26. USF is alone atop the WCAC hill after six games.

Livermore breaks by Mustangs

By Marty James

DANVILLE — Livermore High School, the hottest it's been in years, downed the Monte Vista Mustangs, 72-65, for its sixth East Bay Athletic League win of the season last night.

The Cowboys, now 62, were led by the 1-2 combination of Tim Jenkins and Mark McCreary. The backcourt and up-front men combined for 41 points including 29 by Jenkins.

Jenkins, the play-making sparkplug guard of the Livermore offense, staked the Cowboys to a comfortable 11-point advantage midway through the third period.

The guard turned in an absolutely amazing game.

Monte Vista, meanwhile, pulled within two points twice in the late going of the third and fourth quarters, including a baseline jumper with 1:35 showing in the fourth quarter by Dave Cowan, leaving MV behind 65-63.

Livermore clinched the game with 3:40 to go as McCreary hit a five-foot jumper to boost the Cowboys up 68-63. Classmate Jenkins then proceeded to convert a technical foul before John Farfan buried two free throws for a seven-point lead at 70-63. The Mustangs of Rich Jones, lacking the inside control in the late going were led by Mike Tierney who tallied 15 points including 10 in the third quarter. Steve Jayko and Ken Krey each poured in ten points, while Dave Cowan and Kevin Jones had ten and nine points respectively.

The Mustangs, who trailed by four after the first quarter, came back with 13 second quarter points to pull within one of the Cowboys at the half.

Down by as many as seven points with four minutes showing in the second quarter, Monte Vista rallied for six unanswered points, highlighted by back-to-back jumpers by Mike Tierney. The hosts then pulled within one at 26-25 as Kevin Jones recovered a turnover and streaked half the length of the court for an easy lay-in.

The Cowboys' Mark McCreary then hit inside to give the Cowboys a three-point advantage at 28-25, before the Stangs' Steve Jayko buried two free throws with :36 left for a 28-27 count.

Mats face 'Pokes

Fights of the century

The best has been saved for last in this season's East Bay Athletic League wrestling race.

Cross-town rivals Livermore and Granada will vie for the EBAL dual-meet title on the Cowboys' mats tonight.

In other EBAL action Foothill is at Dublin, San Ramon visits California and Monte Vista hosts Amador Valley.

Both Livermore and Granada are 6-0 in EBAL action and are coming off impressive wins Monday night. Granada came from behind to nail a stubborn San Ramon squad, 43-24 and Livermore overpowered a strong Amador Valley team, 42-15.

The Matadors are the defending league champs but Livermore has been improving steadily this season and the match should be a close one.

Cowboy coach Ed King sees several weight classes as keys to his team's chances for victory.

"The 177-pound class is a critical one for us," he admitted. "Dave Farfan has a 16-5 record for us and has a good chance of winning. Granada usually has Brent Dixon wrestling in that class but they will probably shuffle some of their wrestlers to different classes."

If Dixon and Farfan do wrestle in the 177-pound division it could be a barnburner. Dixon has lost just once this season.

King also sees Daryl Hansen (154) and heavyweight Gary Tennyson as other key men for the Cowboys.

Naish Piazza at 140 pounds is probably the top Cowboy wrestler. Piazza has rung up a 25-2 record this season and is rated a strong candidate to make the state meet.

King feels the Pokes will probably lose some points in the lower weight classes. "We figure that three of our guys will get pinned," he commented. "Granada's Bret Nadeau at 129 is awfully tough. We'll have to make it up in the upper classes and we think boys have a chance there."

Granada coach Steve Page feels his team has a slight advantage in team depth and the Matadors' overall record shows they indeed have a lot of strength.

The Mats have rolled up an 11-0 dual meet record this season and have won several tournaments.

Page cites 147-pound Dale Emery as an example of the Matadors' overall strength.

"Dale wrestled on the junior varsity the past two seasons but came on the varsity this year and has developed into a tough varsity competitor. He has done really well this year."

Other Matador wrestlers to watch include 156-pound Scott Rychovsky and 114-pound Roy Davis. Davis has only lost twice this season.

The EBAL individual tournament will be held next Thursday at Granada's gym.

Dons still in first, beat Cal

By Gary Brown

The Amador Valley Dons rolled methodically to their seventh win in eight East Bay Athletic League games with convincing 73-51 conquest of California last night in San Ramon.

The Dons final winning margin equalled its largest lead of the night. Amador took a 66-44 lead with four minutes left in the contest on Chris Kearns free throw.

The Dons maintained a steady 15-20 point lead throughout the fourth period.

California closed to within 58-43 with about six minutes left in the final period. But baskets by Rick Howard and Don Hall put the Dons back of 65-43 with 4:55 remaining.

Hall led the Amador scorers with 19 points, 15 of them coming in the second half. He scored three quick buckets early in the third period as the Dons opened up a bigger lead.

Howard followed with 17 points on five field goals and seven of eight free throw attempts. John Sevo was the only other Amador player in double figures as he scored 12 points.

Chuck Jay led all scorers with 20 points on eight field goals on four of seven free throw attempts. Larry Walters and Craig Cline each added nine points for the Grizzlies.

California is now 1-7 in EBAL play.

After trailing 4-2 with 6:17 left in the opening period, Amador scored six straight points to take a 10-4 lead and held the advantage for the rest of the half.

They led 22-16 at the first quarter break and promptly scored eight more points in succession, with Hansen getting four of them on two Mike Hansen jumpers.

Mark Kulak broke the Dons' streak with a tip-in with 4:24 to go in the half to make it 30-18. Cal. But Hall came back with a short jumper with 4:10 left to make it 32-18 Amador.

Sevo hit two free throws before Cary came back with another short jumper with :45 seconds left to make it 37-28. Sam Jorgenson hit a jumper with :20 to make it 39-28 at halftime.

Sevo led the Don scorers with 11 points at halftime while Cary had 13 for the Grizzlies.

California closed the gap to 33-24 on three buckets by Cary with 1:51 left before intermission. Both teams traded baskets, Hall hitting a short jumper for Amador and Walters coming back with a lay-in for California.

There is little time for rest during the hectic National Basketball Association season.

A good example is the current itinerary of the Golden State Warriors, back home tonight for a 7:30 o'clock contest with Pete Maravich and his New Orleans Jazz teammates.

Golden State closed out a six-game road trip to Pleasanton's Steve Campbell gets set to shoot over defender Jim Howell (32) of Warren.

Two P-town JHS triumph

Mike Costello scored 15 points and hit the boards consistently as host Harvest Park took a 50-36 win over Hayward Rancho Arroyo in the opening round of the Tom Hart Eighth Grade Basketball Classic yesterday at Camp Parks. In other games, Pleasanton beat Castro Valley Warren, 21-15; Concord St. Bonaventure topped Wells, 57-38; and Knightsen defeated Tracy, 34-27.

While Harvest Park is not a huge team, even by junior high standards, it had a definite size advantage over Rancho Arroyo.

Wiltz wins award

Phil Wiltz of San Ramon High School swished the basketball nets often enough last week to be named Contra Costa County's Fletch Prep of the Week.

Wiltz fired in 30 points in the Wolves' 76-65 loss to Monte Vista Wednesday and came back with 23 against Granada Friday as San Ramon took a 69-65 upset win.

Ben Maldonado of San Lorenzo's wrestling team was named Alameda County's Prep of the Week.

Tim Jenkins, Livermore High's star cager, was among the Alameda nominees. A 6-foot, 170-pounder, he scored 16 points as the Pokes downed Amador Valley 49-43 for the Dons' first East Bay Athletic League loss of the season.

Jenkins also tallied 22 points in the Cowboys' 70-59 win over California Wednesday night.

Fast start keys Naz win

A fast start proved to be the key for Nazarene as it topped Round Table Pizza of Livermore, 64-58 in Tri-Cities basketball at Camp Parks recently.

The winners scored 33 points in the first half while Round Table could tally but 17. Both teams scored 33 times in the second period but by that time the issue was settled.

Steve Goodman led the Nazarene attack with 21 points, canning 10 field goals in the process. Jack Blea added 16.

Soup Kitchen leaped out with 17 points and Don Spoon added 16.

Soup Kitchen leaped out to a 38-26 advantage in the first half and coasted from there.

Round Table took a tight 62-46 win over Cheese Factory.

Dave Cummings led the winners with 22 points on 11 field goals. Larry Carpenter added 10 points and Herb Toole nine.

Dan Wolthers led Cheese Factory with 23. Tom Sheridan added 10. Normally high-scoring Dan Lufkin was held to six points by the Round Table defense.

The game was tied at 28-28 at the intermission but Round Table outscored the losers 34-28 in the second half to nap the victory.

Pair in novice Tri-State bids

While their peers swarm about in quest of various high school sport titles, a couple of Pleasanton teenagers will stick and move in hopes of getting a boxing career off on the right foot next week.

Tony Garcia and Henry Navarro have both been entered in the 156-pound, or light middleweight, division of the novice class at the Tri-State Amateur Athletic Union championships Feb. 11-12 at the Uptown Arena in Modesto.

Garcia, a 16-year old Amador Valley High School student, has chalked up a 4-0 mark thus far while Navarro, an 18-year old Chabot College student, will make his first legitimate ring appearance next week.

Last week at Martinez Navarro was scheduled to get his feet wet, but his opponent failed to show up. Thrust in with a light-heavyweight in an unofficial bout, Henry "pulverized" his foe, according to Tony Ramirez of the Livermore Boxing Club, who is helping the Pleasanton P.A.L. program get off the ground.

Garcia's brother Rick won the light-heavyweight crown in last year's Golden Gloves while father Rich is the P.A.L. coach and the head of the near-legendary "Fighting Garcia" clan.

Cup finals slated

Robertson Park in Livermore will be the site of the youth soccer Commissioners' Cup final day of championship play Saturday.

San Ramon's Superiors will play Pleasanton United at 1:30 p.m. for the Under-12 title. The Livermore Rockets and Pleasanton United will vie for the Under-16 crown at 11:40.

Other championship games have the Dublin Emeralds and Pleasanton United playing for the under-10 title at 3:30, the Dublin Shillelaghs and Pleasanton United going for the under-12 crown at 10 a.m. and the Fremont Yellowjackets meeting Pleasanton United for the under-14 title at 10.

1976 Wimbledon champion, and Miss Simionescu capped a four-year international pursuit by Zingale, who had made the Swedish star his first choice in WTT's initial draft in 1973.

"It's a fantastic feeling to have signed the most exciting player in the history of tennis," Zingale said. "I believe Borg will dominate the game for the next decade."

"The first time I saw him play, I knew he would be a world champion, and I never gave up hope he would play for my team. That he will be joined by his fiance makes me doubly pleased."

Borg was also clearly pleased. "I've always been thinking about playing team tennis," he said. "I like to try new things and now I'll see how it is."

Borg said that the contract "is over a million dollars," but would not give the exact figure. "Another reason I signed was that I'll be able to see Mariana often."

Borg said he will likely limit his tennis to only two tournaments, the U.S. Pro Championships in Boston and the U.S. Open in Forest Hills, bypassing the French or Italian championships and not defending his World Championship Tennis title.

Zingale also gave Borg permission to play some Swedish Davis Cup matches, even if they conflict with the WTT season.

Miss Simionescu said no marriage date has been set. "Everyone asks us, but this our private life."

She said she hasn't played many matches lately and will concentrate on the women's pro circuit in order to get ready for WTT play. "Until the WTT season starts, I will still get to see Bjorn about every two weeks."

U-12 meet set

Gallery's secret store for your home decor. . .

Text and Photos by
Jean McKenna

Decorating your house on a shoestring? Want to add a splash of color with a touch of class to that empty wall in your foyer or bedroom?

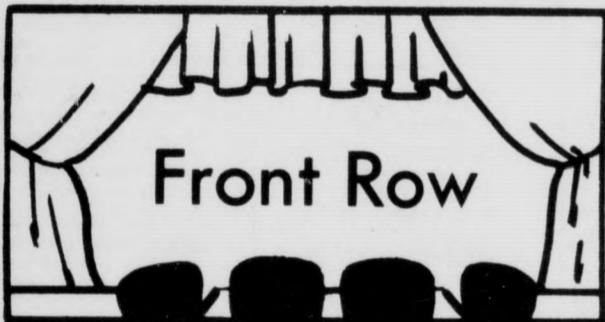

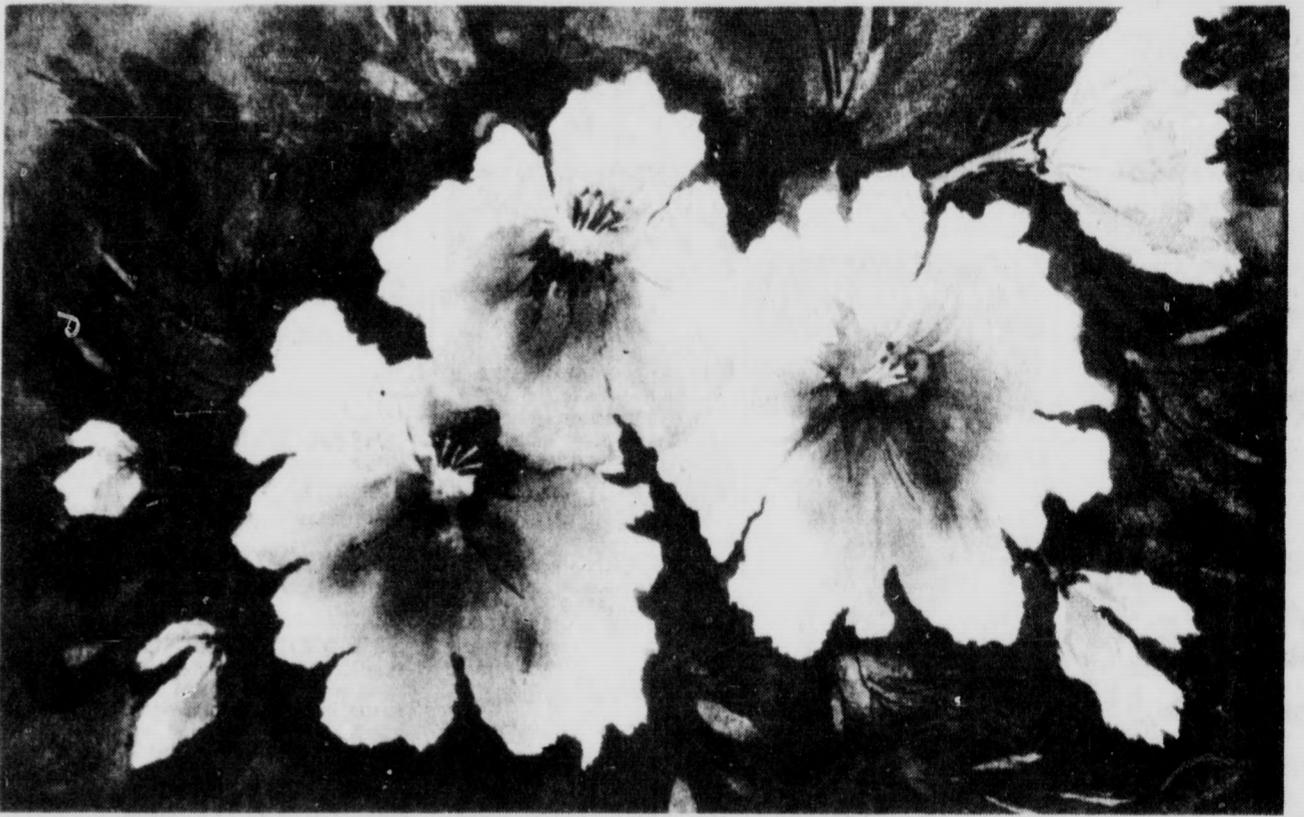

If you think your decorating taste is more expensive than your pocketbook allows, a peek at the portfolio offerings at the Livermore Art Association Gallery might change your mind. The average price of original artwork tucked away in the portfolio is between $15 and $25 for vibrant watercolors or silk-screen prints.

That means you may save two, three, or even four times the price of a fully-framed painting or print when you purchase the unframed (sometimes unmatted) portfolio art. You can choose a bright-colored mat or distinctive frame to match your decor. Do-it-yourself framers can realize even greater savings on the additional $25 and up you would pay for a custom-made frame.

Artists stock the portfolio with paintings they cannot afford to frame themselves, with duplicates of a print, or with work they may have done as part of a class study. Although some of the contributors are still students (who sell portfolio art for a few dollars), accomplished artists such as Muriel Doggett are also represented.

Striking watercolor of "Livermore Avenue Ranch House" (top right) by Vicki Goetsche is done in vivid hues and set in a lemon yellow mat. It's $12. Floral by Frances Callaghan (bottom right) pictures glowing pink petals against a rich green background for $20. "Blue Toadstools" by Carolyn Ramsey (below) is done in batik for only $15.

Others represented in the gallery's portfolio are Shirley Bray, Merilyn Calhoun, Claire Hartani, Ann Hurtman, Gena Kirby, Margo Kirkewood, Don Larsen, Stephanie Leppelmeier, and Wayne Stoner.

By PAT KENNEDY

Toddlers hung off the balcony while their older brothers and sisters angled between adult shoulders for a better look.

It was the fourth annual Youth Concert, held Sunday in the First Presbyterian Church which is known for its beauty but not for its visibility. Most of the kids adapted somehow, and were enthralled with a well-paced one-hour free show designed just for them.

Two dazzling teen-aged performers, violinist Laurie Hamilton and flutist Allison Dibley, awed listeners of all ages with their virtuosity—especially in the face of soloing with the Livermore-Amador Symphony, who often have trouble keeping together and once went downright flat.

Laurie, a Granada High senior, played Edouard Lalo's "Symphonie Espagnole." She performs in the Granada High orchestra and sings with the school's Madrigal Singers. She has played in the East Bay Youth Orchestra for five years and this year is in the Oakland Symphony Youth Orchestra.

Allison drew gasps of disbelief from listeners as she coaxed silvery, liquid trills and cadenzas from her flute performing Cecile Chaminade's "Concertino for Flute."

Sunday was Allison's fifteenth birthday, and surely the best gift of the day was the enthusiastic applause that followed her offstage and brought her back again for a second bow.

A sophomore at Livermore High, Allison plays in the school orchestra and honor band and is also a good enough student to belong to the California Scholarship Federation.

Conductor Arthur Barnes had some informal comments before each piece and thoughtfully provided an intermission after the first half-hour of the concert so the little ones could line up at the bathroom and run up and down the stairs a few times.

The lively second half of the concert featured Renaissance dances performed by Ron Harris and Anne Witherell, a colorfully costumed pair from Stanford University.

As the symphony struggled with "Capriol Suite for Strings," the dancers moved with a precision unfamiliar in contemporary dance steps. An invitation from Barnes to learn a round dance lured more than a dozen audience members into the spotlight. The show climaxed with a rousing "sword dance" using wooden swords that banged together with a dramatic clatter.

The tireless dancers agreed to perform that one again for an encore, much to the delight of the children—and the adults, who made up the majority of the audience.

The show ended with an invitation for the children to meet the musicians of the Symphony, look at their instruments at close range and find out more about them.
